FIRST TIME DRIVERS

A

For first time drivers, it is possible to get a Japanese driver's license but it requires an extensive training course. Many places around Japan offer a dormitory to do so.

If you got an IDP and brought it with you from Japan, you can use it up until the date listed on the front. Please note that this is not your date of arrival into Japan.

CARS

Now that you're on the road, let's review some important driving rules. For many of us, this is the first time driving on the left side of the road. A great rule of thumb is to try and keep your body towards the middle of the road. Additionally, in Japan right on red is not allowed.

How do I know where to go?

The most obvious way is of course to check the timetable at your local stop or station. It will be in Japanese, so use the camera function on your preferred app if needed.

There are many apps that can help you plan a trip, including Google maps, Apple maps and more.

Paying for your travel

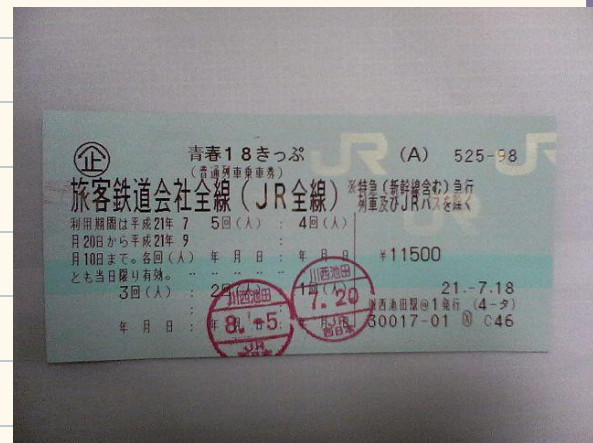

Cash

IC Card

SUGOCA

Ticket

Paying with cash

Busses, local trains and streetcars can be paid for with cash
when you get off.
You have to check the price by taking a paper ticket when you get on. Pay the price that corresponds with the number

- Tram, bus, some local trains
- Use all over Japan
- Digital version

Paying with IC card

- Tram, bus, some local trains
- Use all over Japan
- Digital version

Streetcars, some busses and some local trains can be paid for with an IC card when you get off. If you see this symbol you can pay with IC card. This also includes some vending machines, cash registers etc. BUT- some busses and trains in rural areas do not accept IC cards (eg Shimabara Hanto) You can use IC cards in other places in Japan

Tickets

- Buy at stations
- Or buy online , for example at SmartEX, where discounts are available depending on when you book
