

Children's Book Author Debut

Creating Fun Reading Materials to Read In and Outside of Class

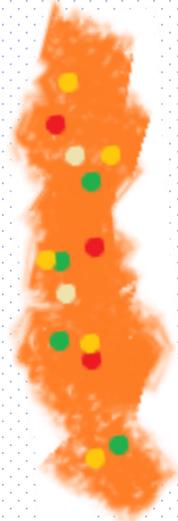

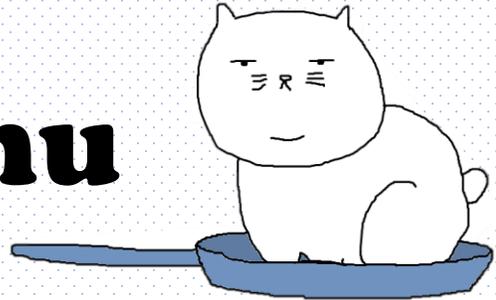

By Tzu-Han

Today's Menu

Why make books?

Story Time!

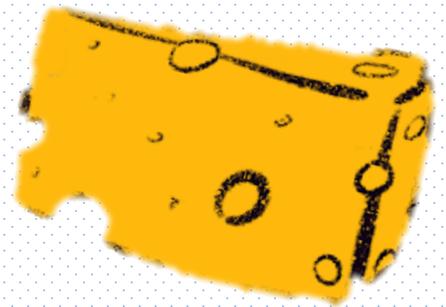

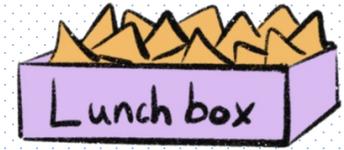

Unlock your creativity – warm up the brain

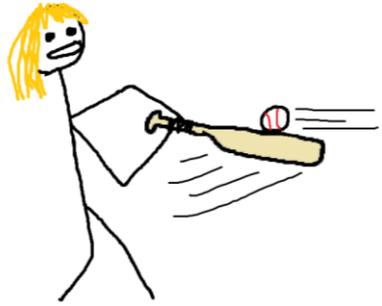

Let's get writing!

Book Fair!

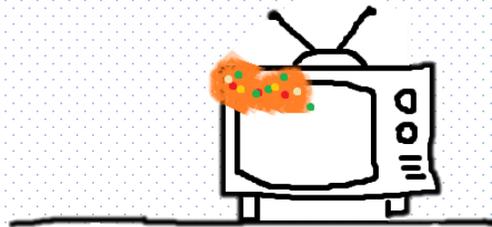

Why make books?

1. Provide level-appropriate reading materials

2. Provide supplemental reading materials that are engaging, fun, and silly

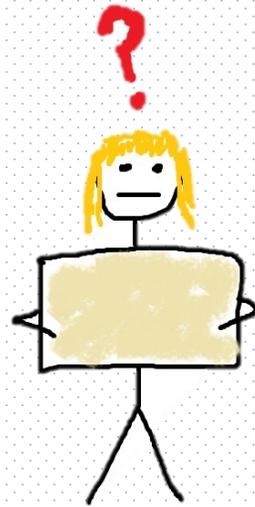

Story Time!

Pat's Fat Cat

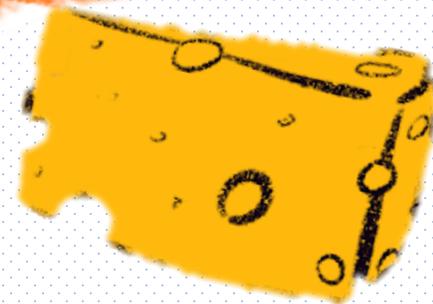

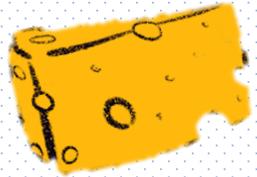

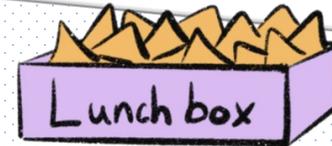

By Tzu-Han Hsu

The Flying Pizza

by Jonah Meggs

Pat's Fat Cat

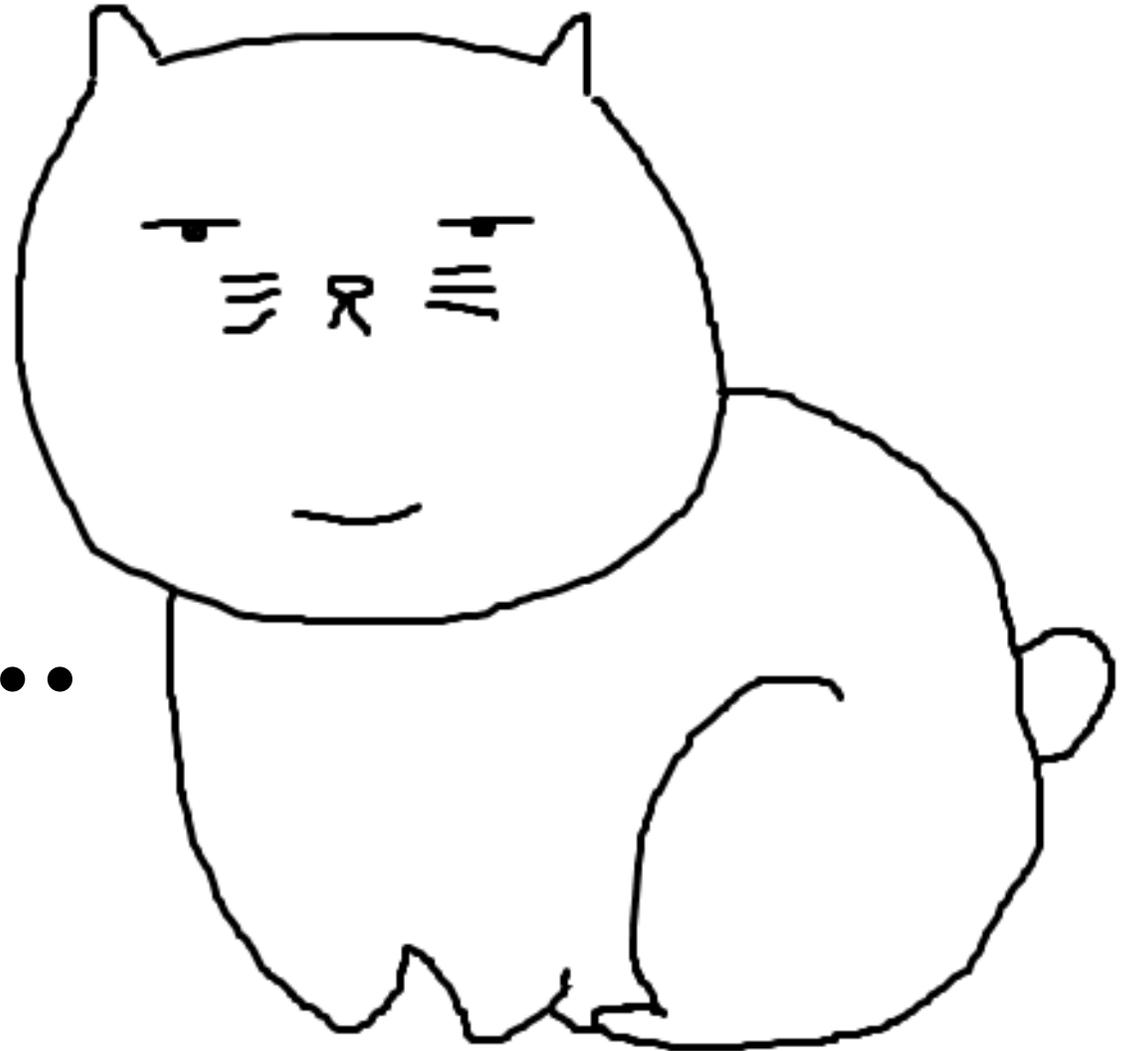

By Tzu-Han Hsu

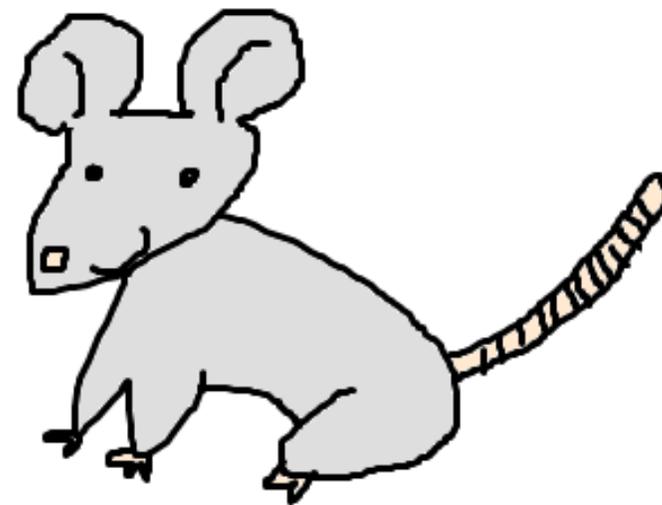

This is Pat.

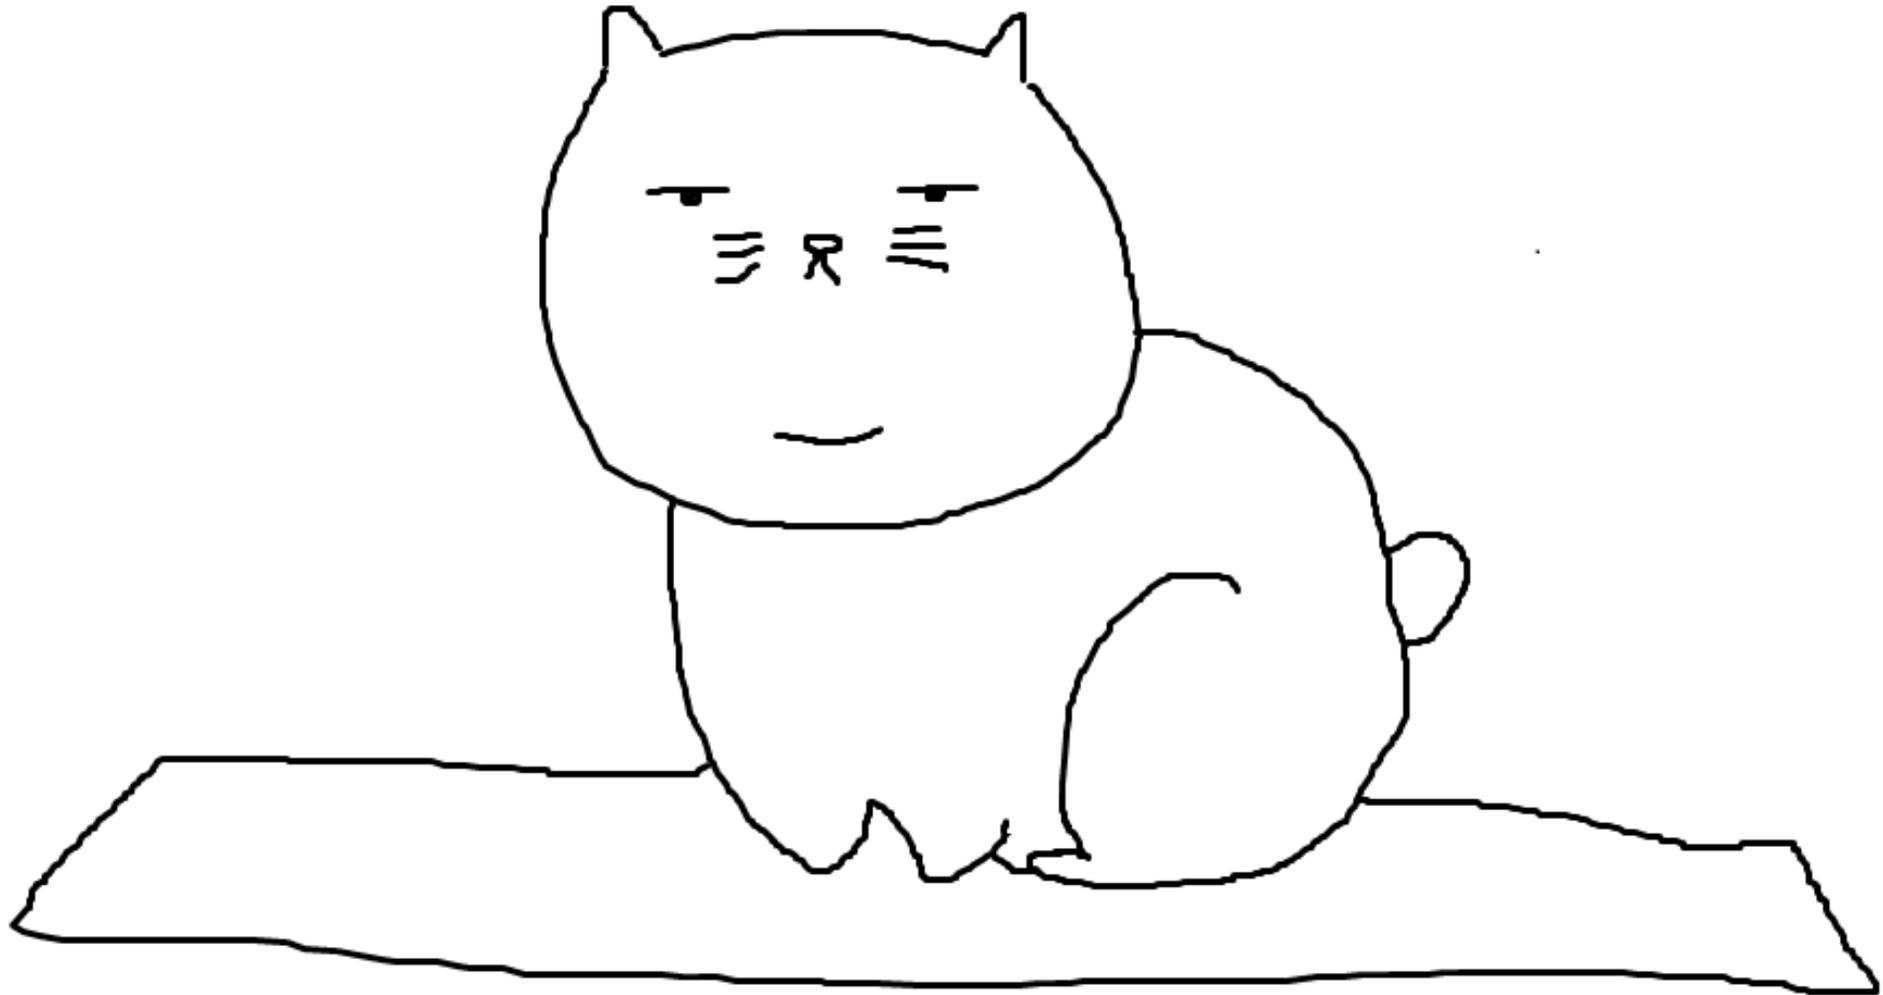

Pat has a Fat Cat...

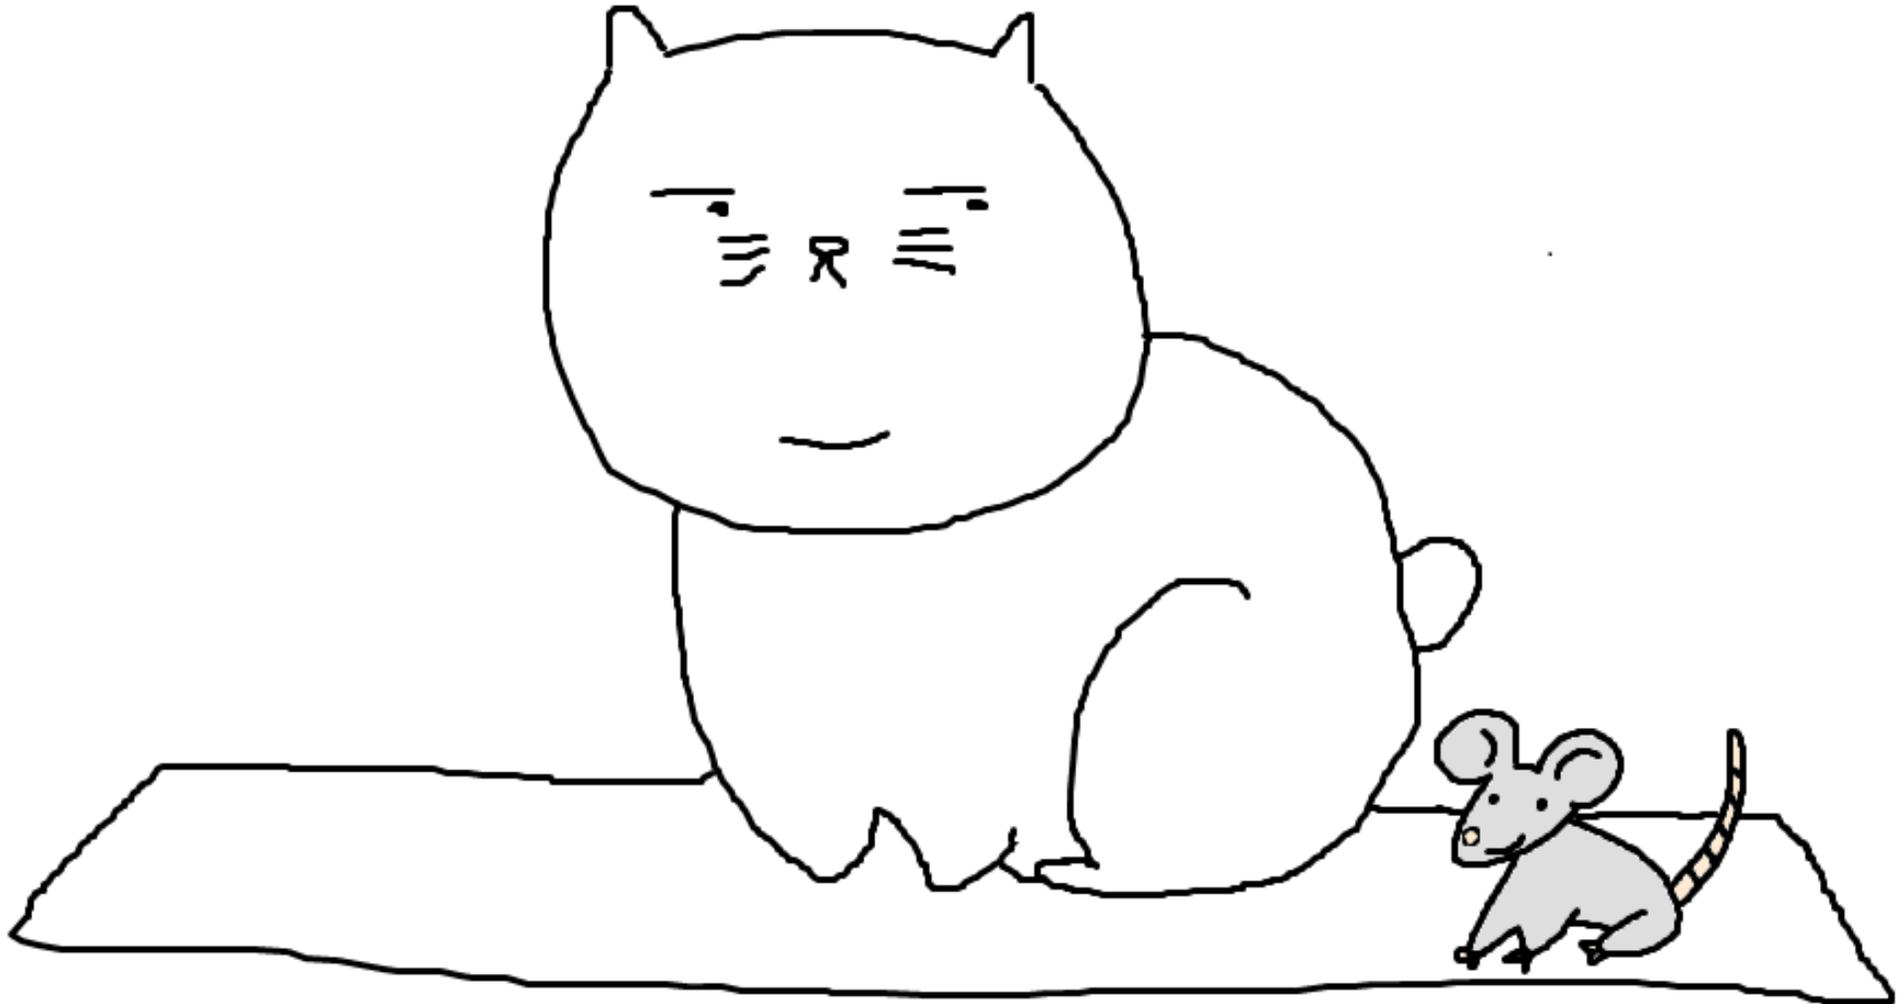

and a pet rat!

The Fat Cat sat on a mat.

The rat sat on the mat, too.

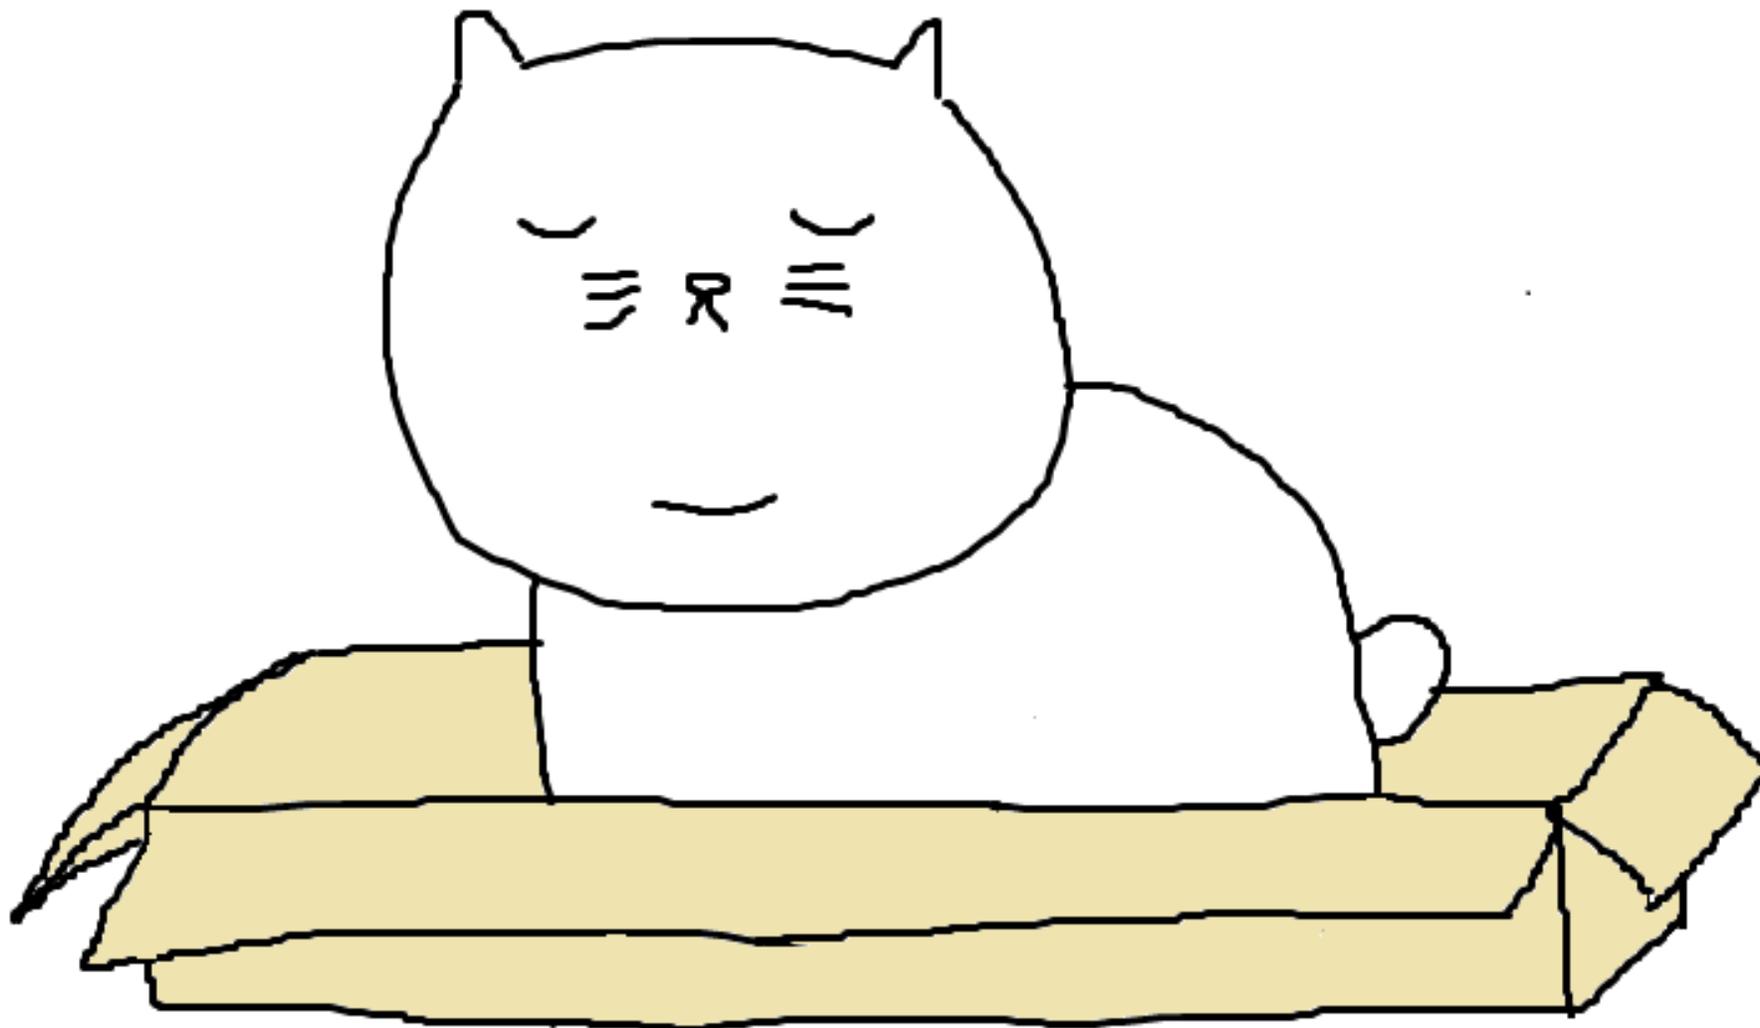

The Fat Cat sat in a tub.

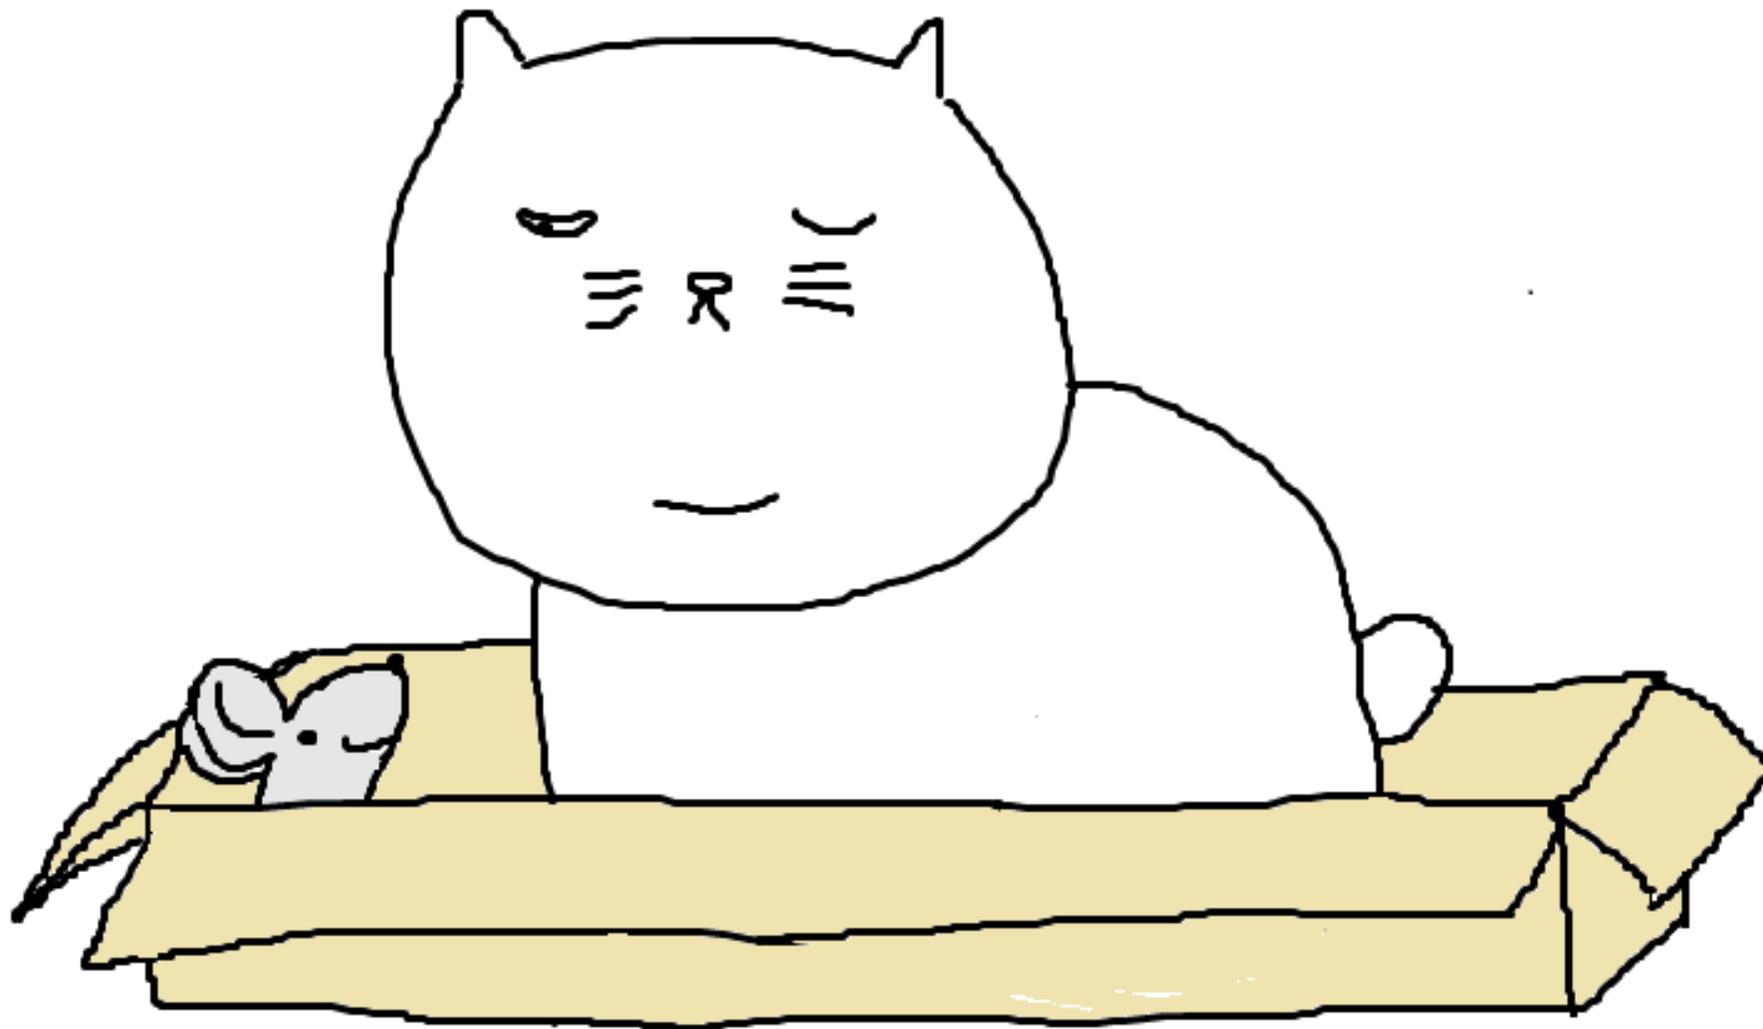

The rat sat in the tub, too.

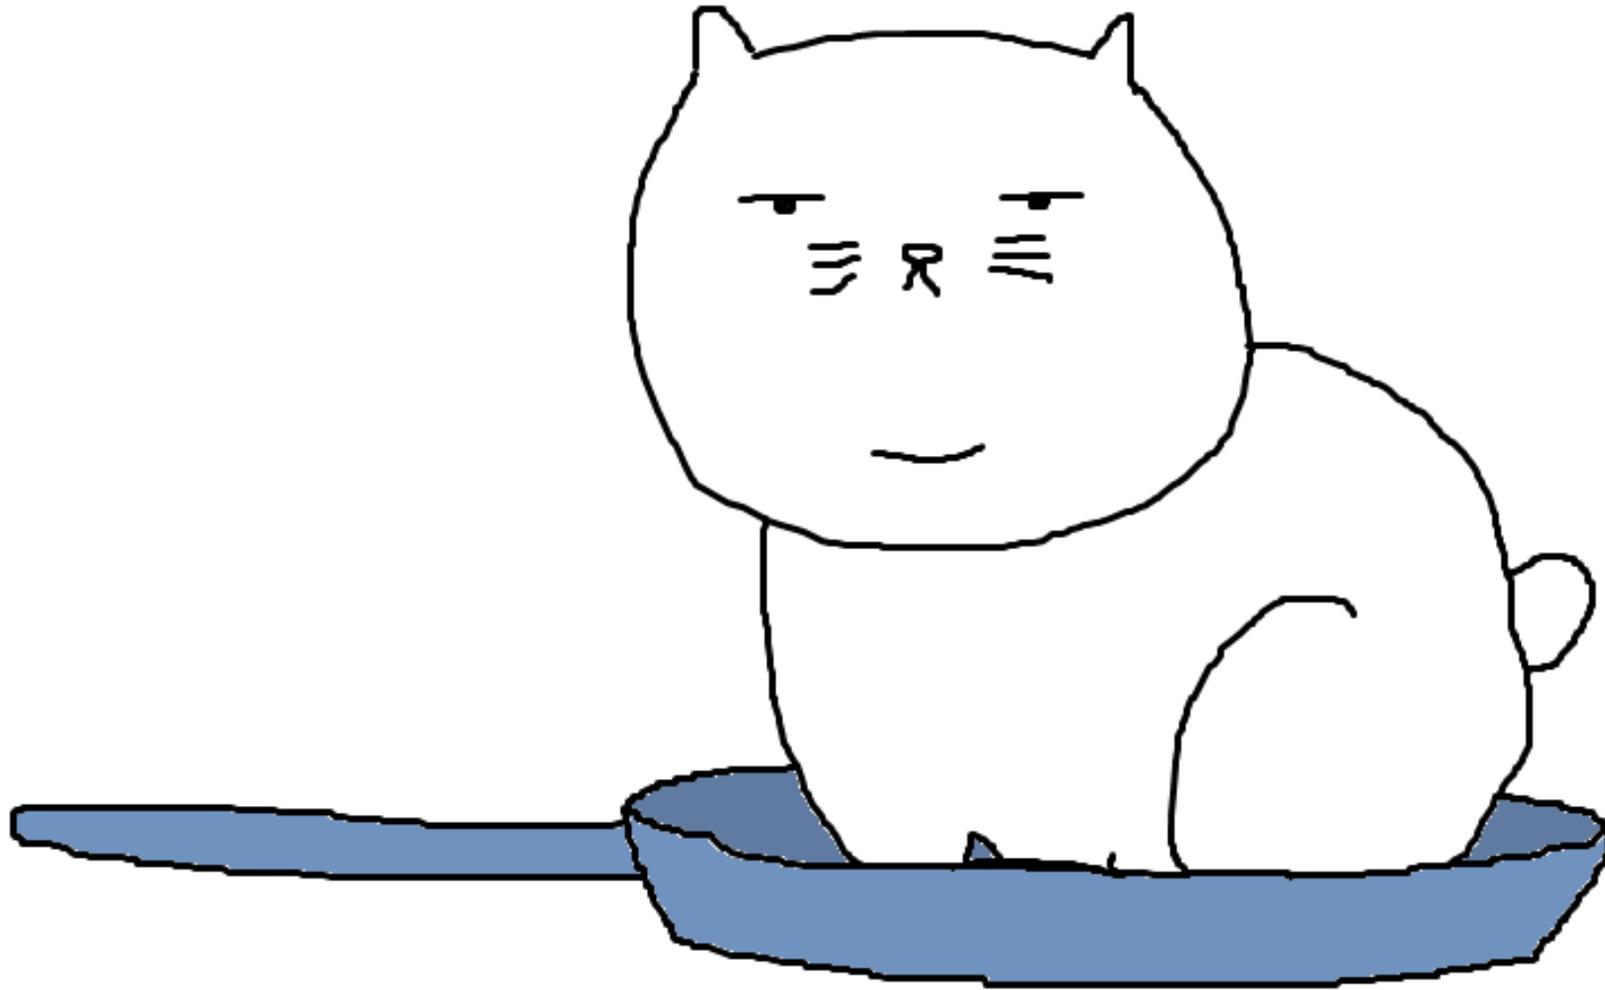

The Fat Cat sat in a box.

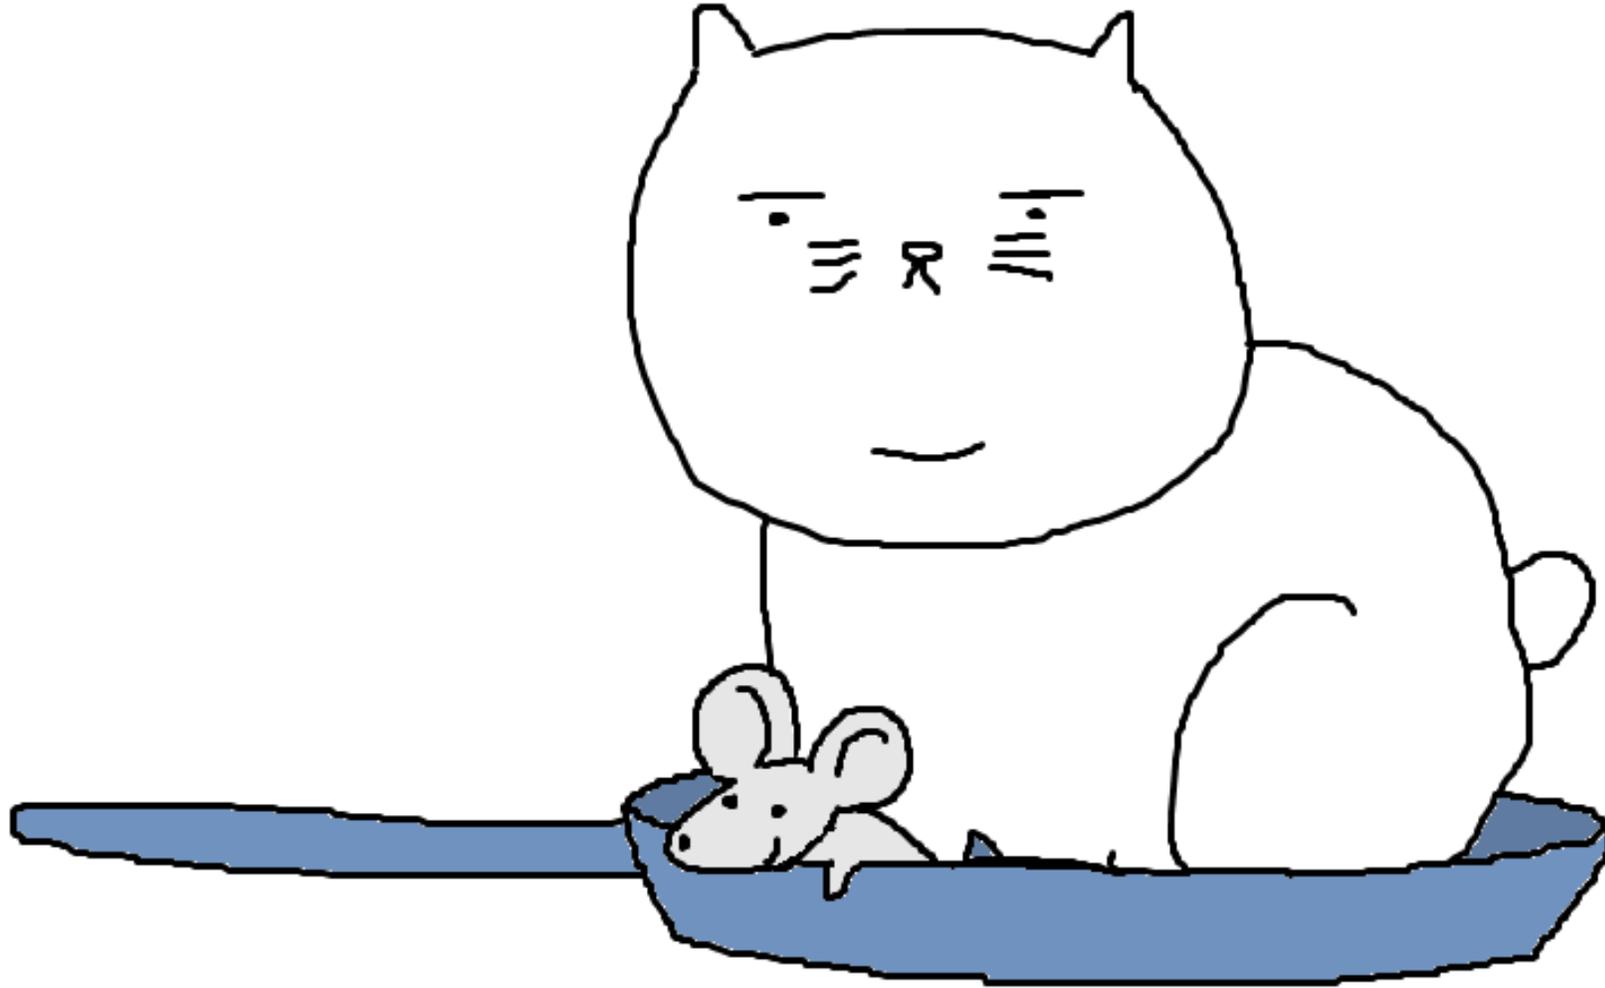

The rat sat in the box, too.

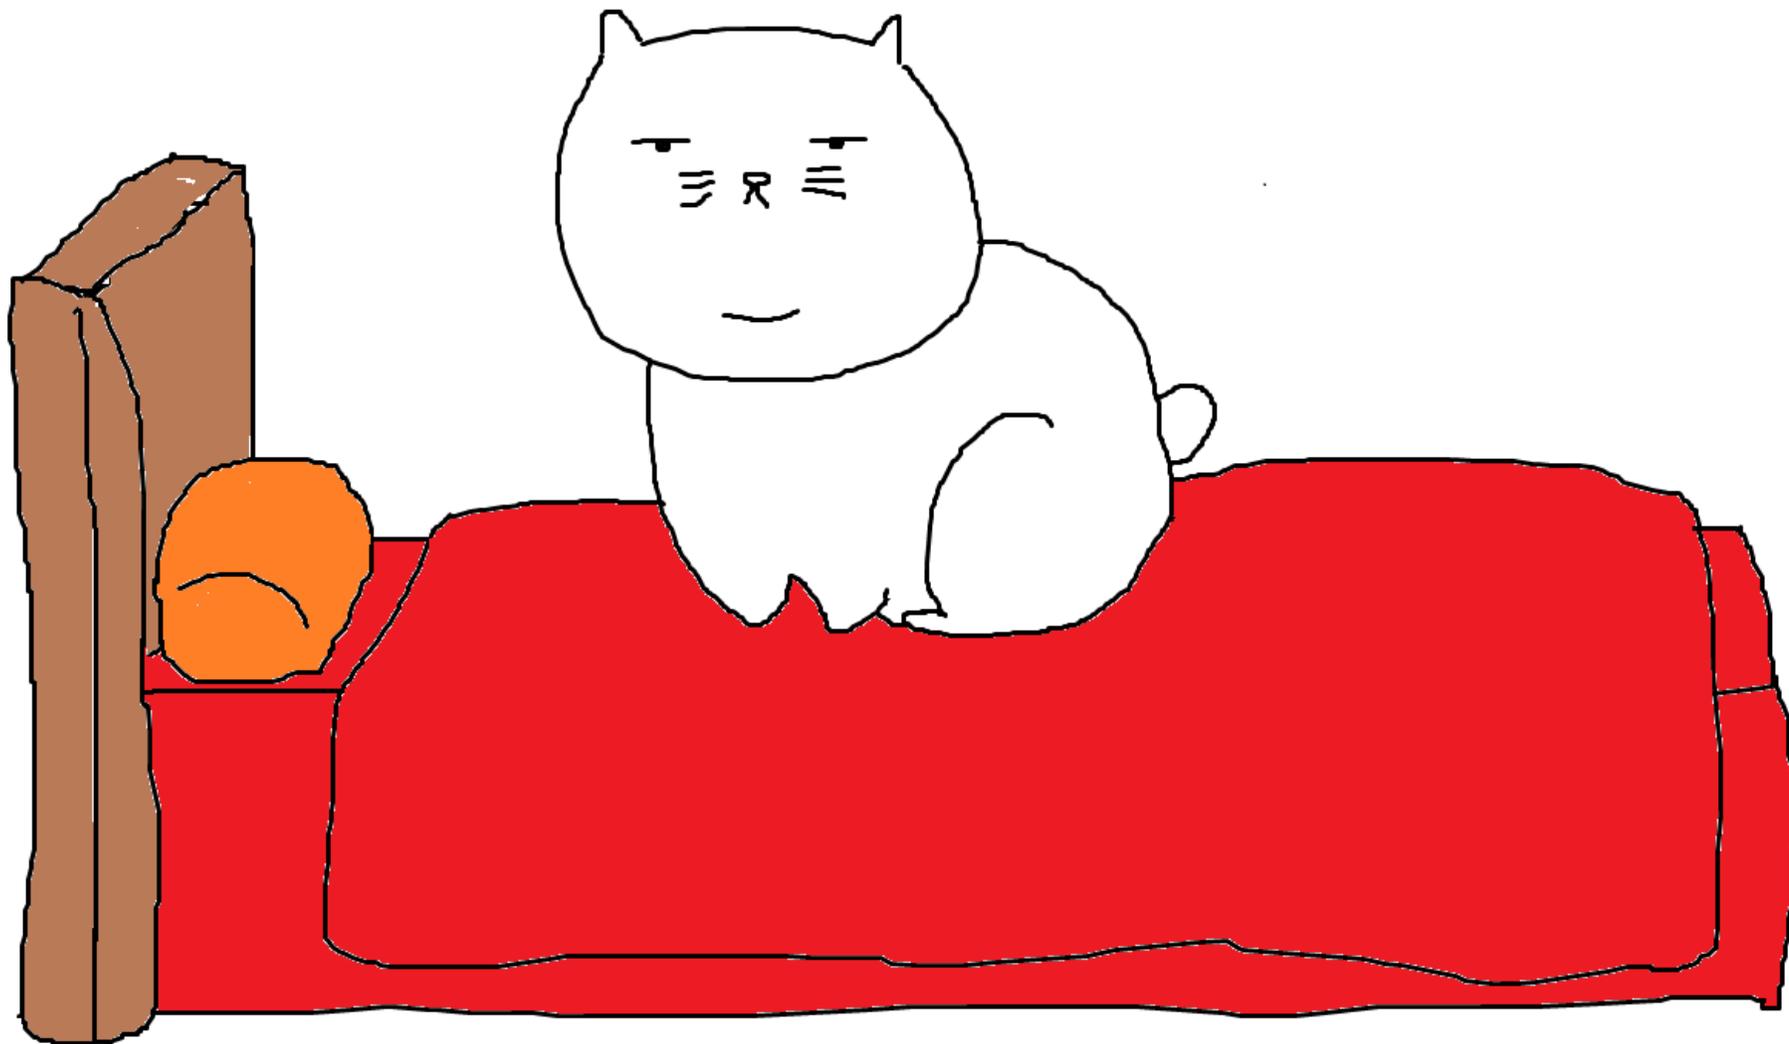

The Fat Cat sat in the blue pan.

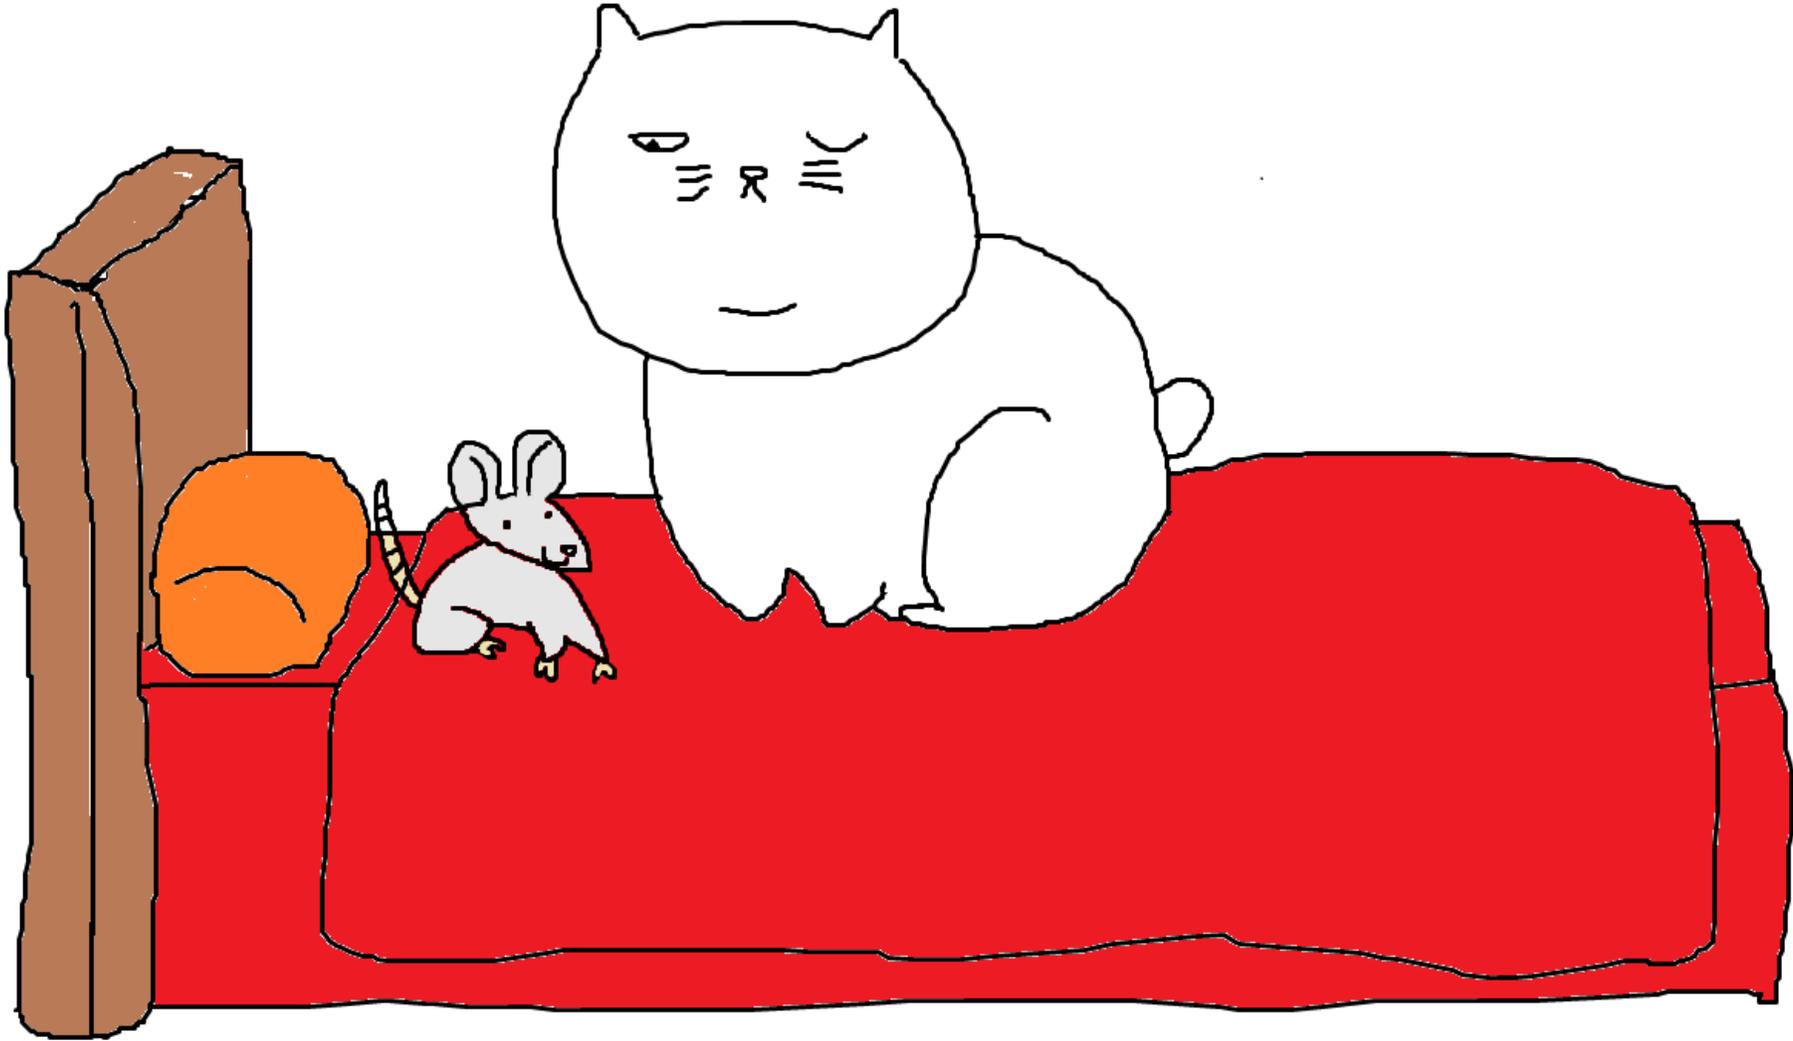

The rat sat in the blue pan, too.

The Fat Cat sat on the red bed.

The rat sat on the red bed, too.

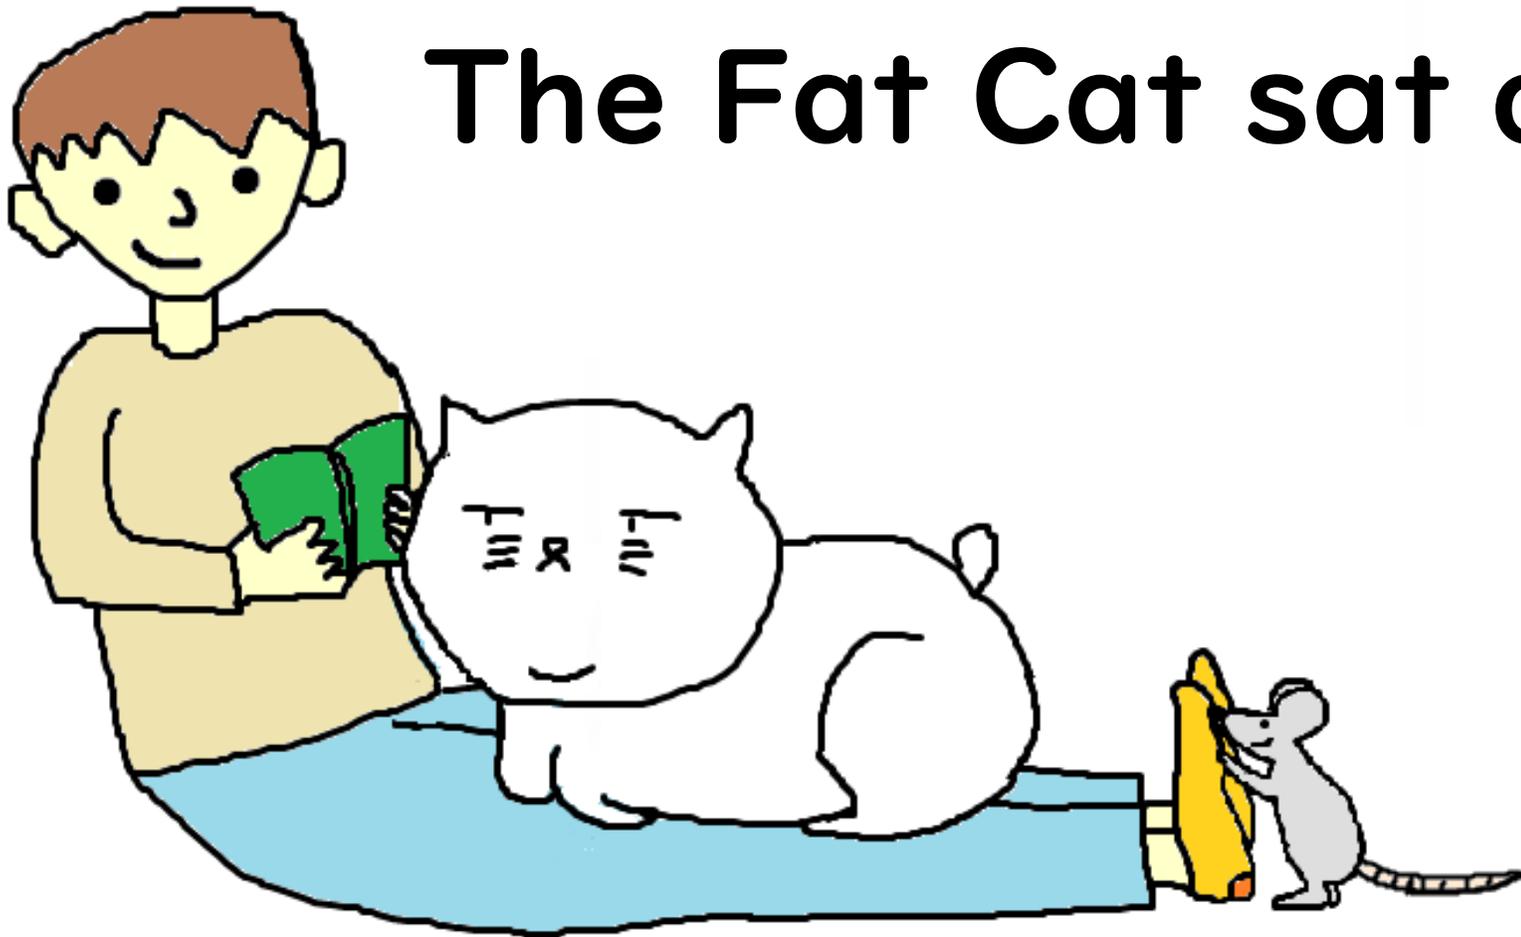

The Fat Cat ran to Pat.

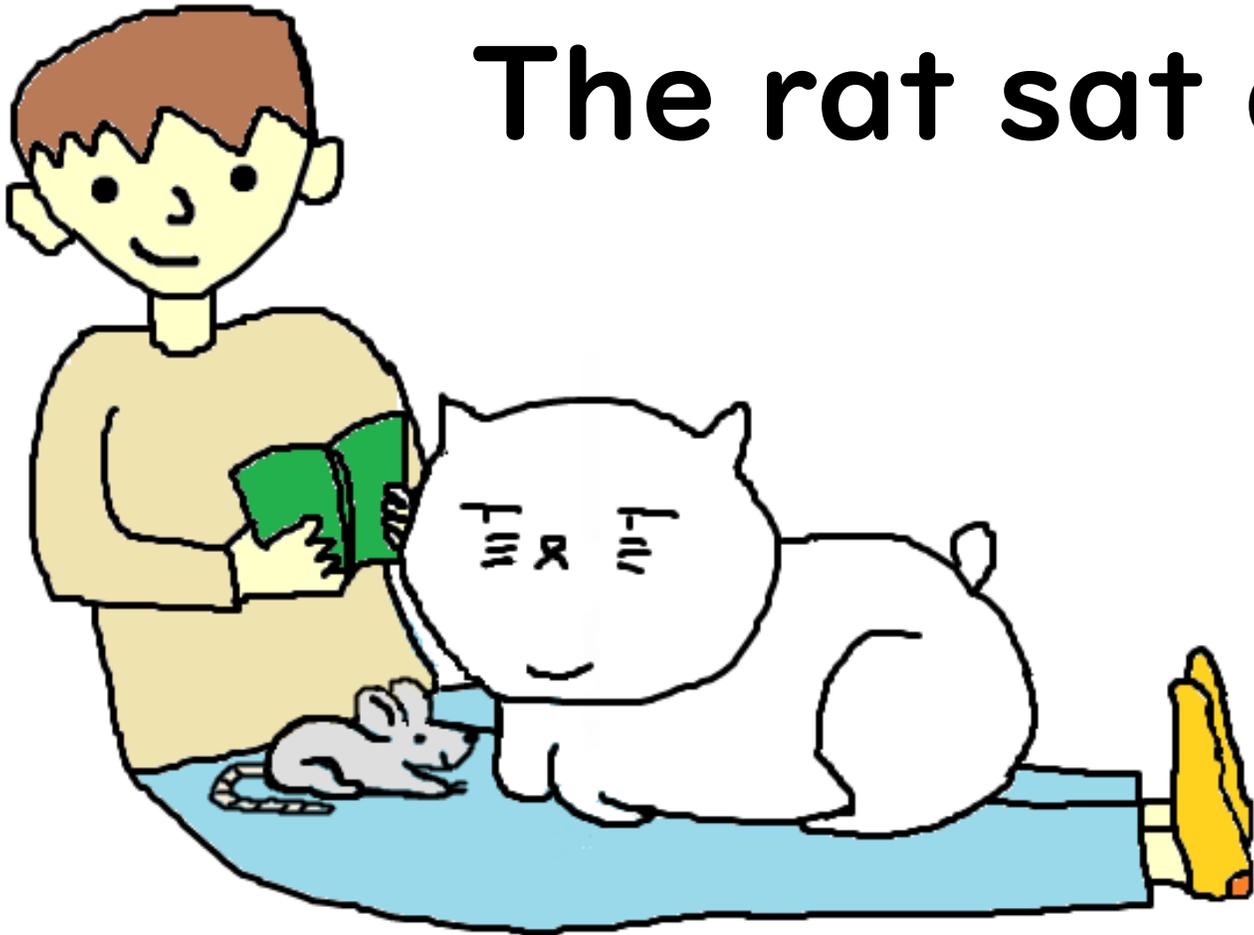

The rat ran to Pat, too.

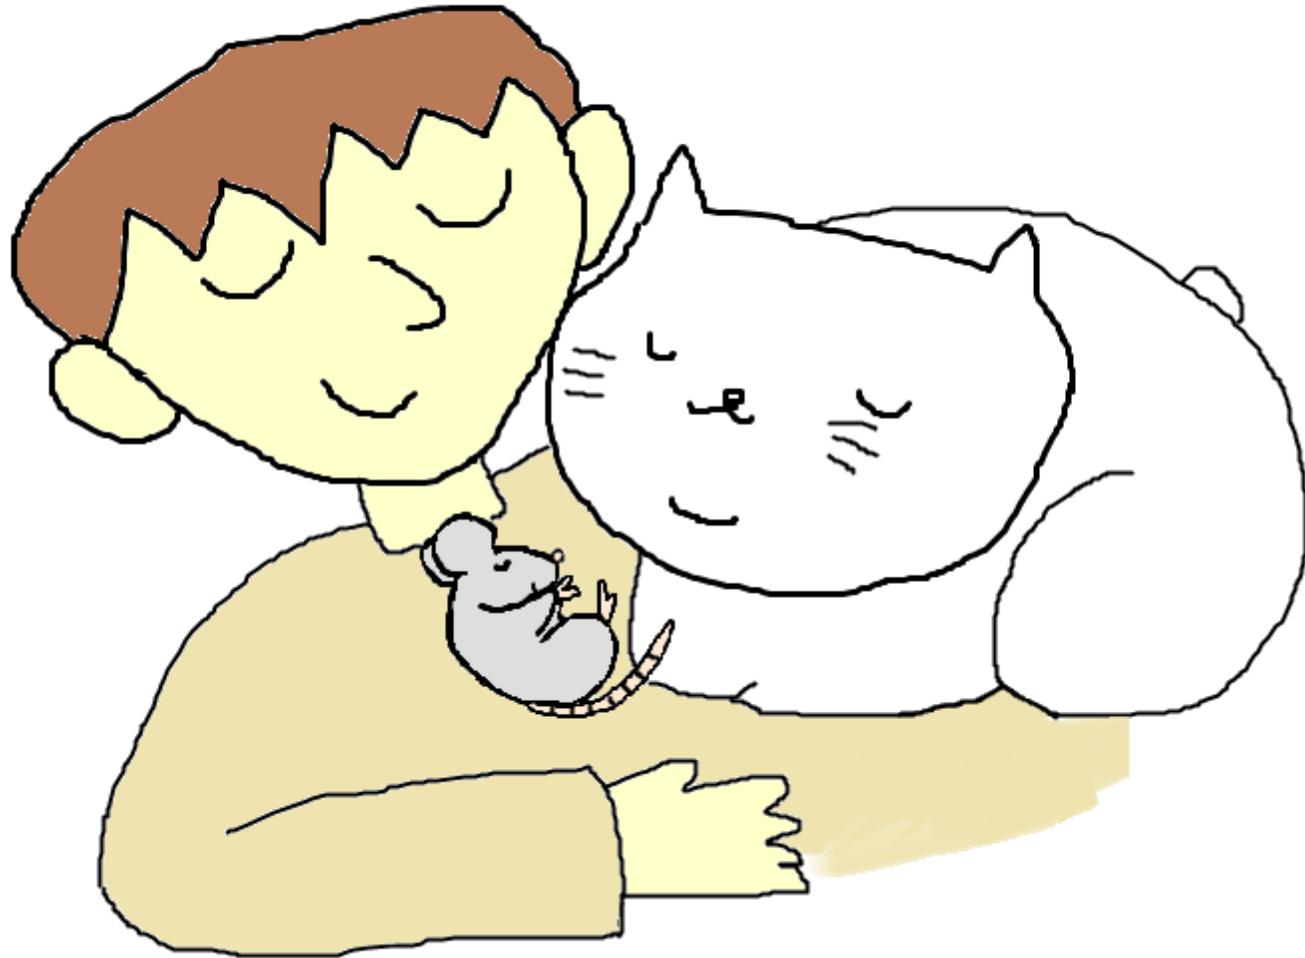

The Fat Cat sat on Pat's lap.

The rat sat on Pat's lap, too.

Pat, the Fat Cat, and the pet rat had a big fat nap.

The End

The Flying Pizza

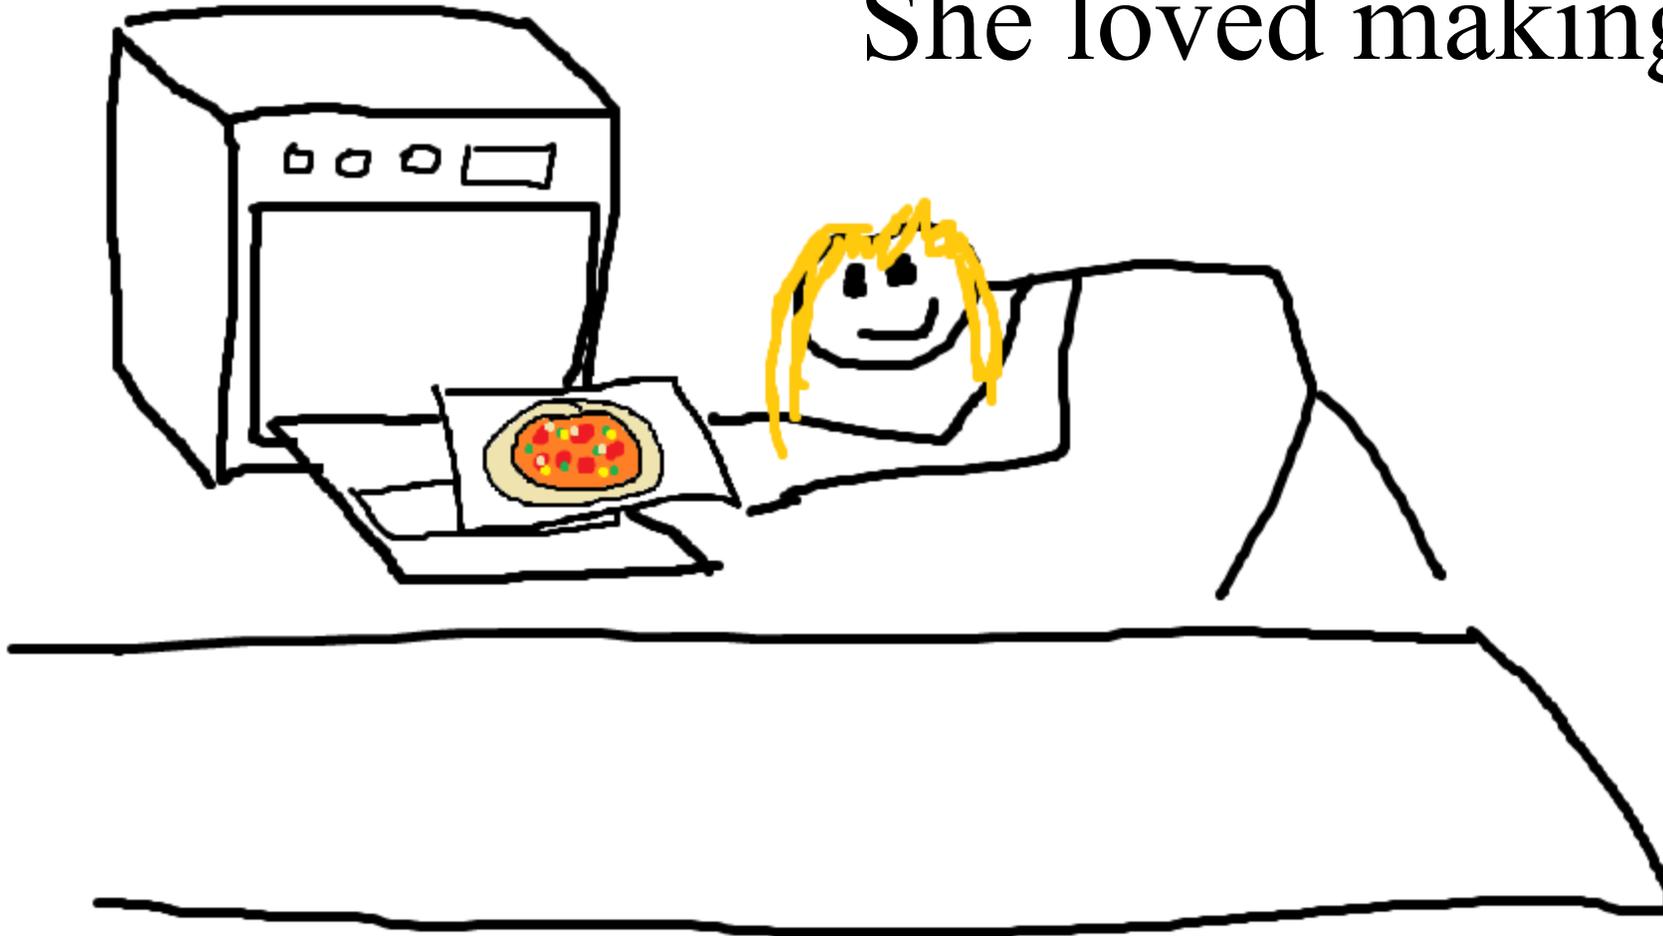

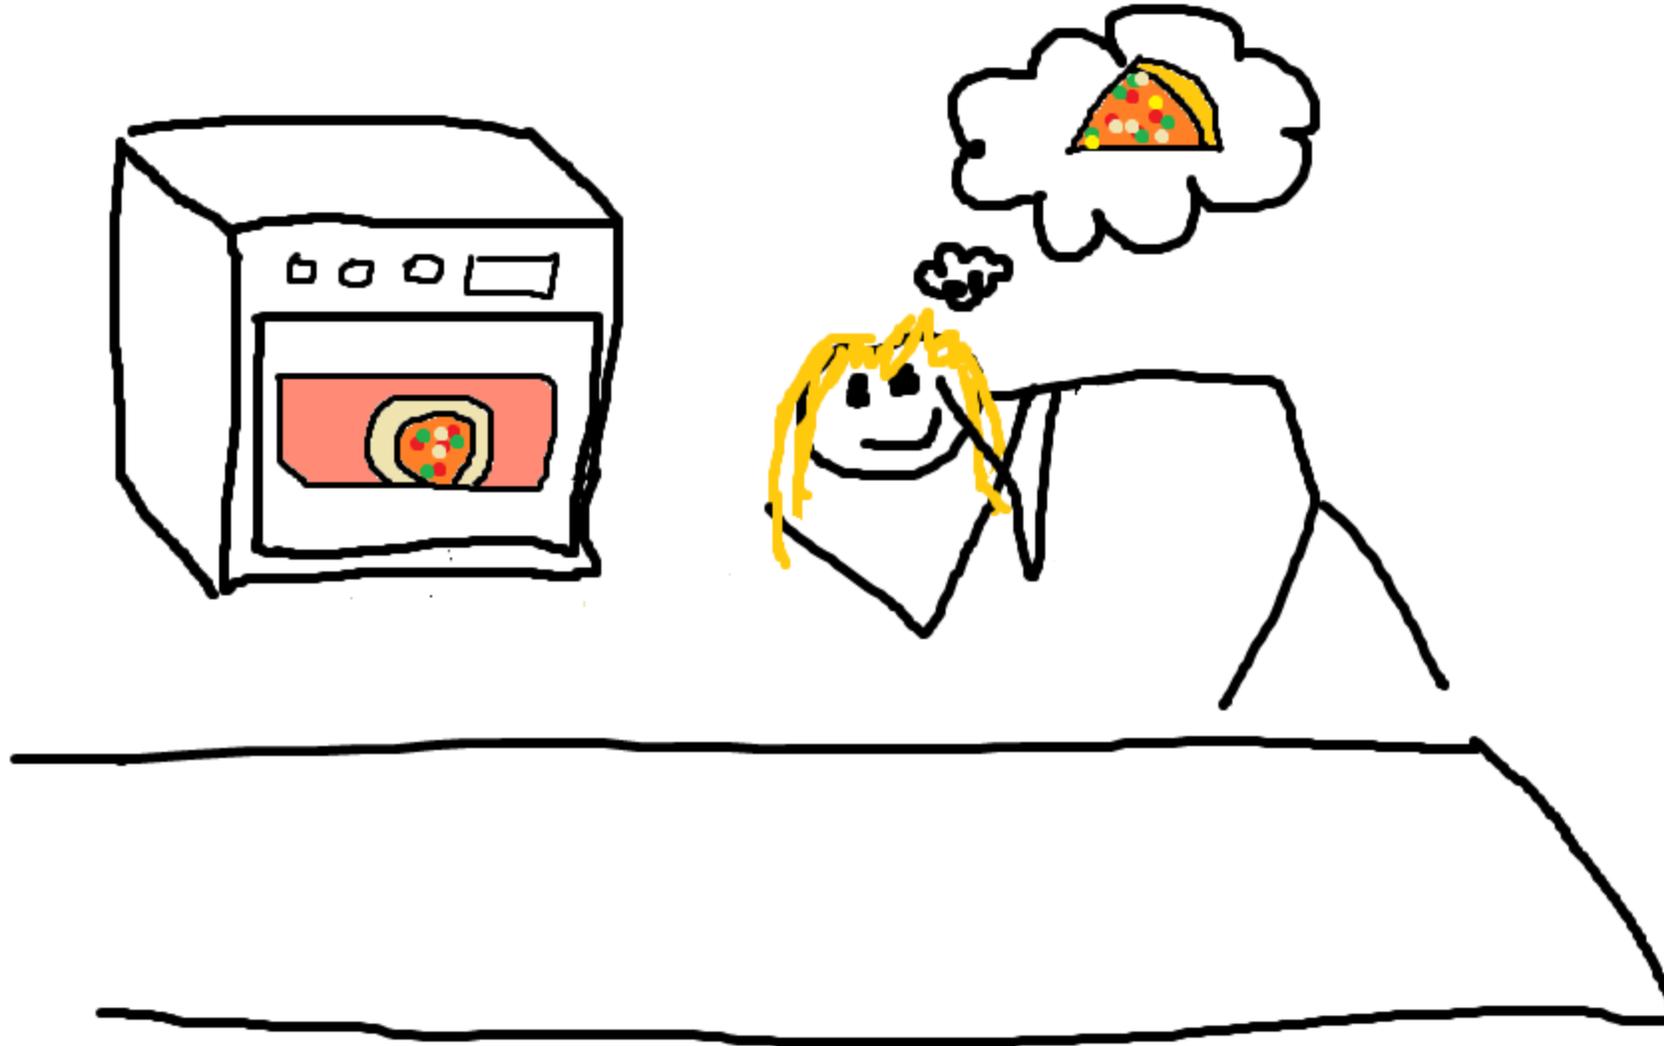

by Jonah Meggs

One afternoon, Lucy started cooking pizza in the kitchen.

She loved making pizza.

She was excited to start eating it.

Suddenly, the oven made a loud noise, and the door popped open!

The pizza flew out like a rocket.
Lucy gasped!

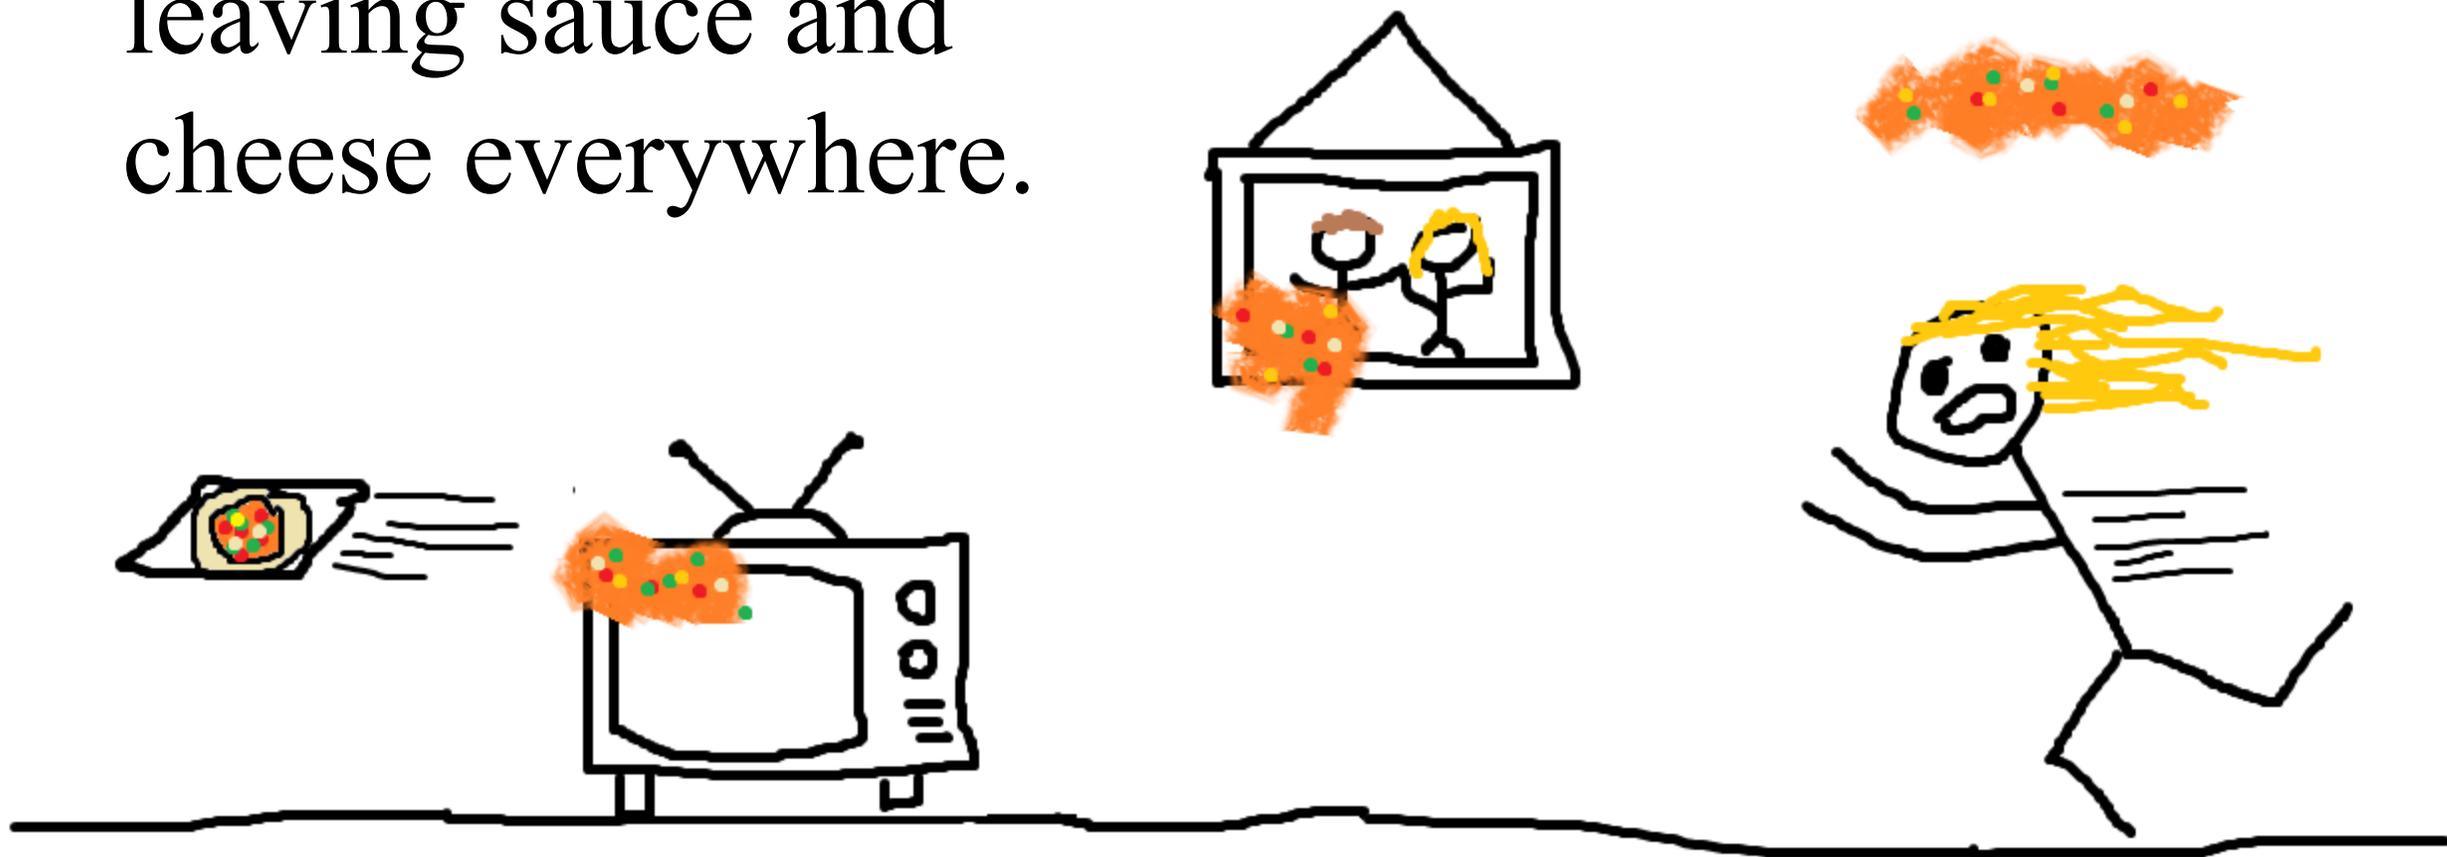

Lucy started chasing the pizza as it flew around the room.

The pizza kept zooming through the house.

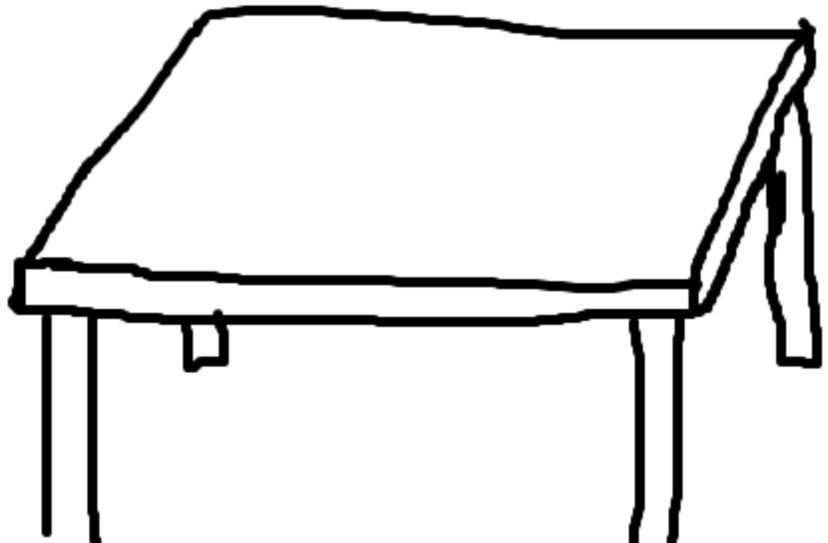

The pizza started leaving sauce and cheese everywhere.

Finally, the pizza hit the ceiling.

The pizza stopped flying.

It fell onto the table.

She started cleaning
the sauce off the walls.

Lucy sat down
and started eating the pizza.

“This is the best pizza ever!” she said.

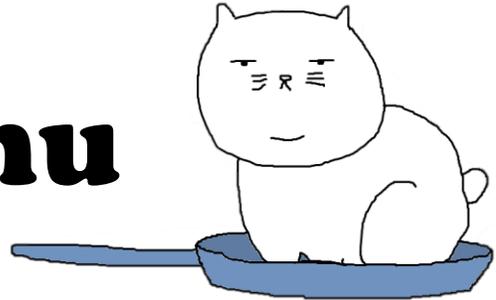

The end

Today's Menu

Why make books?

Story Time!

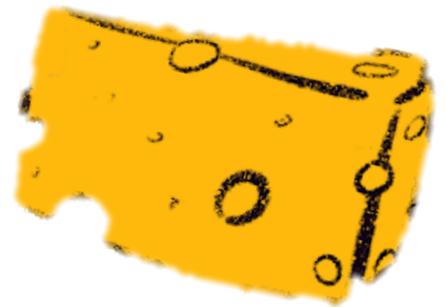

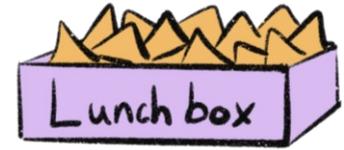

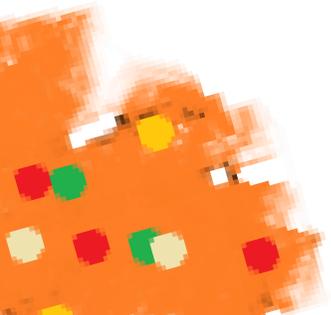

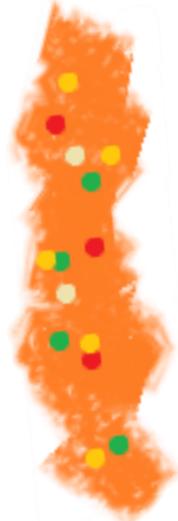

Unlock your creativity – warm up the brain

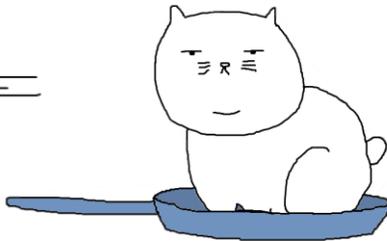

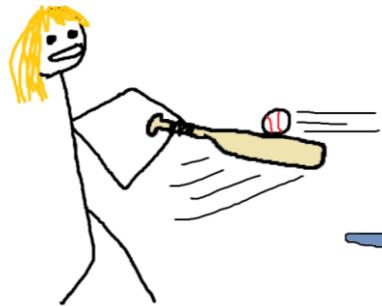

Let's get writing!

Let's read!

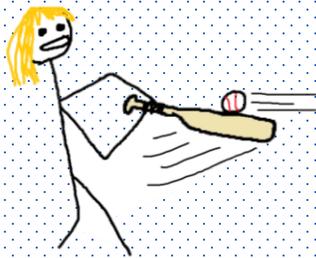

Warming up the brain

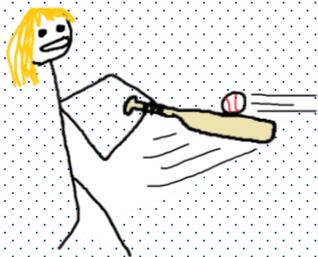

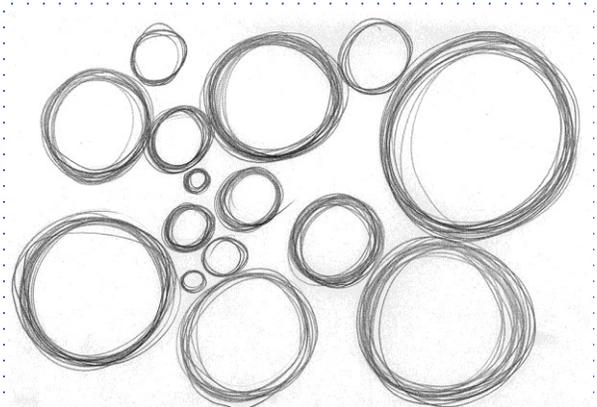

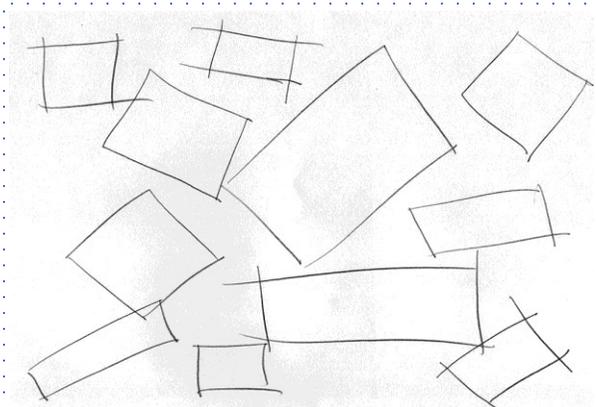

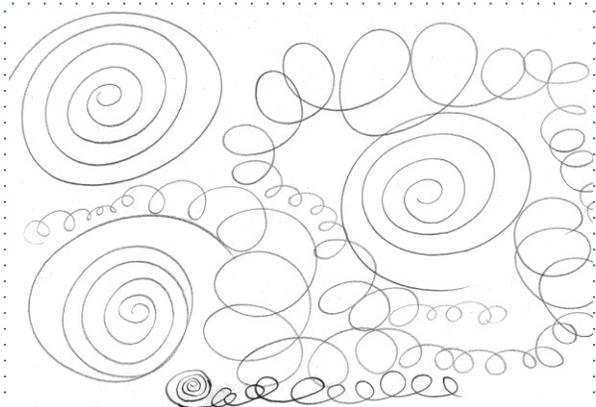

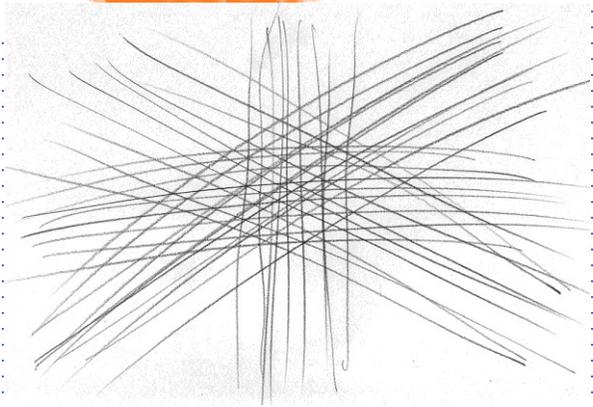

Warming up the brain

- 1. Walk around and observe
- 2. Write down some of the things
- 3. Pick something that would be the worst to cook with
- 4. What is the best food that you could make using it

Warming up the artist

Your Turn!

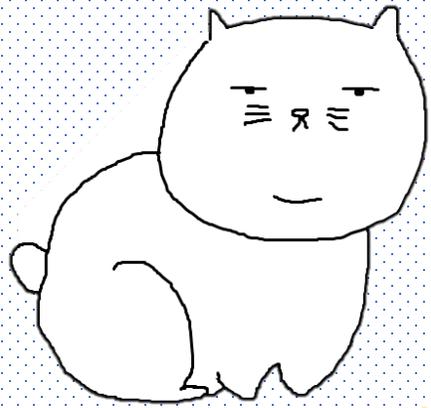

30 minutes

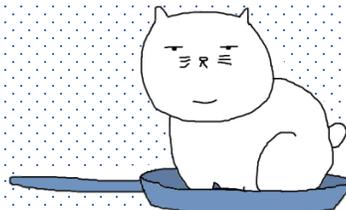

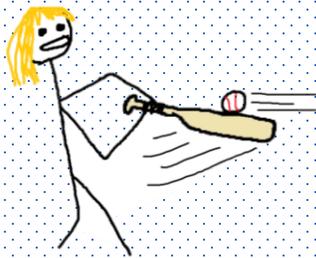

~15 pages

NO erasers!

Book Fair!

SDC 2025 Children's Books

tzuhan.hsu1@gmail.com